CHICAGO BOILER COMPANY

SINCE 1891

Custom Steel Fabrication

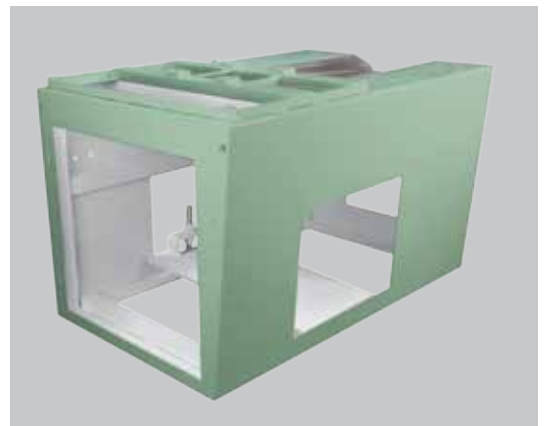

Chicago Boiler is an ASME and National Board certified fabricator accredited with ASME "U" stamp as well as the National Board "R" Stamp.

At Chicago Boiler, our focus is providing the most well thought out and economical solutions to the most complex industrial problems for our customers. We tailor solutions to a number of different industries. We understand that the criteria of one industry may not suit another, but our flexible process and years of experience assures our customers, in any industry, the best solutions in custom metal fabrication. We have experts who are capable of taking your project from the design phase, all of the way to your door, with the attention and care expected from a leading metal fabricator.

We have the capability to write and test new welding procedures in-house with minimal impact to your project deadline
